DACIA LOGAN, LOGAN MCV AND SANDERO: RANGE STRUCTURE CHANGES

The range structures (in France) of Dacia Logan, Logan MCV and Sandero underwent a certain number of changes starting August 31.

In keeping with the brand's hallmark spirit, the line-ups of these three models have been streamlined, although the packages remain as generous as ever thanks to a choice of three equipment levels: Sandero/Logan, Silver Line and Black Line 2.

Price spreads are unchanged despite equipment upgrades.

Customers can already place orders for the latest Logan and Sandero ranges, while order books for Logan MCV Silver Line will open in September.

The chief changes are twofold

- The new Silver Line version marks an upgrade compared with the Ambiance version it replaces.
- The Black Line version replaces the former Lauréate and Prestige versions and the special edition Black Line version.

The special edition Sandero Stepway and the basic versions of Logan and Sandero have not undergone any changes.

Silver Line

This new version features a carefully-appointed interior, including specific upholstery and chrome details (door handles, console, air vent surrounds, instrument bezels).

Principal standard equipment:

Silver Line = Logan/Sandero equipment level, plus:

- 2x15W radio-CD with MP3 playback, plus steering wheel-mounted fingertip remote control for Logan and Sandero
- Electric Pack: remote central locking + electric front windows
- Power steering
- Height-adjustable front seatbelts
- 60/40-split rear bench seat for Logan MCV
- Specific Silver Line upholstery

Black Line 2

This version builds on the strengths of the former special edition Black Line version and now packs all the comfort-related appointments that were a feature of the Lauréate and Prestige versions it replaces.

Principal standard equipment:

Black Line 2 = Silver Line equipment level, plus:

- Manual climate control
- 4x15W radio-CD with MP3 playback, plus steering wheel-mounted fingertip remote control for Logan and Sandero
- Trip computer
- Foglamps
- Height-adjustable leather-trimmed steering wheel and driver's seat
- Specific Black Line 2 upholstery
- 60/40-split rear bench seat for Sandero
- Electric, heated door mirrors
- Roof bars (Logan MCV)
