RENAULT CONTINUES ITS PRODUCT OFFENSIVE WITH THE EUROPEAN PREMIERE OF THE NEW KOLEOS AND KOLEOS INITIALE PARIS

Renault brings to Europe for the first time the premiere of New KOLEOS INITIALE PARIS, a high-end version of the model that will go on sale in most European markets in spring 2017.

Originally unveiled in Beijing Motor Show, China, in April 2016, the new KOLEOS rounds out Renault's high-end model range by blending the rugged style of an SUV with the elegant refinement of a large saloon. This D-Segment SUV incorporates all of the traditional features expected in its class, while adding Renault's acknowledged expertise in comfort and practicality.

FIVE NEW MODELS AT THE MONDIAL DE L'AUTOMOBILE PARIS 2016: A COMPLETELY REFRESHED RENAULT RANGE - THE YOUNGEST IN EUROPE

The Mondial De L'Automobile Paris 2016 marks the completion of a renewal and expansion of the Renault range over the last four years – 11 new models and 15 models refreshed – and the introduction of the new Koleos, the new Grand Scénic, the new Mégane Sedan, the facelifted new Clio and the Alaskan pickup.

Since the launch of the fourth-generation Clio in 2012, Renault has completely upgraded and expanded its range. Not only is Renault the world's leading French car manufacturer, but the brand also now boasts the youngest range in Europe.

A CONCEPT CAR INFUSED WITH RENAULT STYLE

The Renault concept car to be revealed on Sept. 29 marks the beginning of a new cycle of Renault car design. This explores the essence and technologies inspiring upcoming models that embody both a vision of how mobility might be in the future and the vibrant passion associated with the automobile.
